BIO

Fusing serious science and experimental music for more than a decade, Anna Hjalmarsson is inspired by diverse approaches to the musical domain. Informed by her early classical training in piano but eager to explore a wider sonic spectrum, Anna has long left those strictures by embarking on electronic music.

During her PhD studies in evolutionary insect biology, Anna Hjalmarsson founded Stoscha in 2017 in Stockholm together with Kristina Sundin as an imprint for excursions into ambient music and techno. Honing her skills as a DJ and producer in various collaborations, the Robert Johnson resident Anna Hjalmarsson has also established a solid reputation as Annawooh for her own music.
